ABOUT

2026 collection

A softer palette for a warmer kitchen.

This year's collection moves toward quiet, livable neutrals – tones that feel grounded rather than stark. Soft whites, warm greiges, and muted earth tones replace the cooler palettes of seasons past, paired with organic wood accents that bring texture and depth into the space.

The result is a space that feels collected, not decorated – natural materials and warm undertones working together instead of competing for attention. Every finish is chosen to pair effortlessly with the other, so mixing tones and textures across your cabinetry feels intentional, not risky.

Wood touches – whether a full wood run or accent detailing – are woven throughout the collection to soften the palette and bring warmth into even the most minimal layouts.
